DAIRY WISDOM

The pure bred cow carries a great possibility of reproduction of the qualities of her ancestors. In ber the power of heredity predominates because she is bred for that particular line. Every one who is interested in dairying is not necessarily a dairyman.

The folly of keeping low producing cows should be so apparent that such cows would be hunned as thleves and robbers. The way to secure a good dairy herd is to breed it and produce lt on the farm rather than to depend upon purchases every sea-

The silo and dalrying always go together. The sile, when rightly used, will help to make the cows more profitable.

WEED OUT LOAFERS FROM DAIRY HERD

[Prepared by dairy division, United States The work of testing the dairy herd is most interesting and produces many surprises. Many of the linest appearlng cattle will be found to be the poorest producers, while some of the animals thought to be seruls will be worthy of a place in the constructed herd. No time should be lost in disposing of the improductive cows. A market can readily be had for those in good condition, while the money received for their sale can be most wisely expended by purchasing a sire and two or more dams of a dairy breed. These new animals should not be jurclased without first knowing their record of production. If the time, labor and expense of car ing for the poor cows in the dairy here were utilized in the care of the better animals the results would be wender ful and the profits manifold. Taink of caring for half the number of cows it your herd and getting twice as muc profit from their maintenance. Every cow should be given a thorough tes under the most favorable conditions and, if then found wanting, the soone she is disposed of the better. No cov should be condemned before testing for the animal that lacks quantity yielding may produce milk containing a high percentage of fat.

Cost of Silos.

The initial cost of a sibe is what stops a great many farmers when they are urged to consider the economy of the sikge method of feeding the corn crop. From $200 to $1,000 may be spear on a silo, the stave silo to hold a hundred tons coming close to the smaller figure and the best types of monolithic sibs of sixty feet heights costing the larger sum. Plt siles can be built for less than this, the main cost being chiefly labor, which the owner may contribute hlmself at some stack period.

Ration For a Dairy Bull. A very good grain ration for a bull Is a mixture of equal parts by weight of ground oats and bran, says Hoard's Dalryman. If the droppings of the half to a pound of eilment may be fed daily. A bull weighing from 1,500 to 1.800 pounds in service will require from six to eight pounds of the grain who united with the Baptist church mixture mentioned. In connection with this let the animal have all the alfalfa desired.

The Overland Trail

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Lit

in the old days of the Overland trail the pony express and the inubering stagecoach stage stations had been erected at a distance of fifteen uniter ailments of the stomach, fiver and apart throughout the length of the San Francisco. The indians could not use fire as a weapon, nor could they carry a station by assault, but they captured many of them by trickery or siege. iu no case was the life of a company employee ever spared. Never were greater hardlhood and bravery exhibited than by the men se lected to drive the conches.

As the stage toiled through the heavy sand of some strips of desert or met several miles of stony and uphill trail a band of a hundred yeiling warriors would suddenly appear. The driver must tight as well as gulde his excited team. it was when the Overland company finally appealed to the government to clear its route through Kansas that General Custer was sent out with a brigade of troopers. Custer couldn't hope to strike a telling blow against the hordes in the field, but he aid his plans to open the ronte aud drive the Indians back from It.

As we followed the trall to the west we picked up station after station, showing grewsome sights. Custer's whole command witnessed the arrival of the last stage from the west-the last for several weeks. From a hilltop three miles from the trall, with impassable guilles between, we saw the coach come up the trall with 100 Indians parsning It. It was a ranning fight, which aroused every man to the highest pltch of excitement, but we were helpless to extend ald. Through the clear air of a summer afternoon we saw the stage horses shot down and the coach overtaken. The passengers made a brave fight to the last, but none of them escaped. It was night before we laid made our detour and reached the station, and the In dians had departed long before. They had captured the station two hours be fore they attacked the stage. If this station had failed to hold out bow would it be with Pawnee Flat, the next station to the west, and with White Horse, the next after that? The first was a four man station and the next a relay of eight. As we rode away through the night not a man had the slightest hope of l'awnee, though we knew it would have been defended as iong as one of the four could lift a gun. We reached it at about 11 o'clock. It was as we had feared. Over 200 Indians had swarmed down out of the hills at daybreak the morning before. and, though they had lost a score of men, the dugout had been carried by assault and its defenders butchered. We walted here half an hour to give the poor corpses burial and theu pushed on toward White Horse. It was not until we got within two miles of the station that our fears were relleved Then we heard the reports of rifles and knew that the place was still holding

The station was situated about mldway of a long, bare hill. To the west of it was a coulee, or dry ravine, with banks twenty feet high. We had with us a couple of sconts, who knew every rod of the Overland trail, and when within a mile of the statiou these men were sent forward to spy out the station. They returned after awhile to report that Spotted Horse and about 150 of his "dog soldiers," as the Cheyennes were called, were laying slege to the station and had evidently occupied the ground for two or three days The ground around the dugont was so open that the ludians dared not "rnsh" the place, nor was there any show to use a keg of powder without reckless exposure. With their alles holding the trall to the east, the Cheyennes had entered upon a siege in hopes to starve the defenders out. Their war ponies and most of the band were lying up in the dry ravine for the night. This ravine had no opening to the south and was therefore a cul de sac.

The first signs of dawn were in the sky when we saddled up, mounted, and the whole of us pushed forward, led by the scouts, for the mouth of the raviue We had the Spencer carbines, each with a full magazine, and as we got the order to charge each man tegan shooting. When a carbine was empty it was thrown away and a revolver used In its place. When the revolverwas empty it was cast aside for the saher Extended from bank to bank, we swept up the ravine, and we had nothing to do but kill. Taken by surprise, the Cheyennes thought only of getting away. The fight did not last above thirty minutes, and our loss was only three men wounded

Down in the ravine we harvested seventy-eight dead Indians, and on the banks above the stage men counted up 100 rifles, nhout 50 pistols, 130 ponies and a wagon load of miscellaneous stuff. Every Indian lying there was a dead one. Custer had sald, "Shoot to kili!" and there was uo wounded or prisoners. Among the killed were Spotted Horse, Big Moon and White Bird, and that fight broke the backstations west of Burning Hill, but they had taken only Pawnee Flat. They they were the first to be gathered on a

"Lney," said Lneinda, "I don't believe your Bob or my Dick can tell us apart.

"Not In the dark," was the reply. "Nor in the light. Suppose we change our engagement rings and see miles from the Missouri river no coach if it doesn't fool them. I'll exchange was safe from attack until it reached my diamond solltaire for your sapphire. We dress alike, and Dick has said that we look more alike than any twins he has ever known. The only difference in any of the things about us is our engagement rings."

"We can try it anyway." So the girls exchanged rings. It was Saturday, and their lovers usually cailed on that evening. Lucy's finnce came in first, and Lucinda went down to receive him with her sister's diamond ring on her finger.

Bob Brackett arrived half an hour after Weatherbee. He was shown, as usuai, into the library, where he found Lucy with her sister's sapphire on her finger. He, too, was deceived. The pair had not been long together when Brackett and Lucinda came into the room where they were. "We've been discussing the wedding," Brackett sald, "and there are points we must talk over with you two. How about the ashers? Shall we limit the reception to relatives or make It general?"

A number of such questions were taken up and discussed. The glrls soon dropped their timees out of the argument, deliberating with each other Dick winked at Rob and said:

Now I tell you what we do. When they laugh at us for being fooled we'll declare we're not fooled at all. You cling to Lucy, and I'll do the same by Lucluda."

"Good boy! We'll do It!" They returned to the library after their smoke without manifesting the slightest evidence that they had discovered the ruse that was being practleed upon them. When they arose to go Dick, bidding good night to Luelnda, offered the usual kiss. She drew back, langhlng. He stood looking at her with well feigned surprise. "I'm not your girl; I'm Lucluda," she

Then the girls, both talking at ouce and both laughing, tried to explain that they had been playing a joke on their lovers. Dick, who led the way for both, winked at Bob, then walked up to Lucy and took her in his arius, whereupon Bob angrily pulled him away. Dick, in a line stage passion, struck the man who had interfer ed with bim, and a fracas ensued, the girls trying to part the antagouists. PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

At the last meeting of the General Assembly of Kentucky I recommended that a Kentucky Illiteracy Commission be appointed and authorized to inquire into and alleviate the condition of the adult illiterates in the State, and Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman; Miss Ella Lewis, Dr. J. G. Crabbe and Dr. H. H. Cherry were appointed as members of the Commission. This Commission has inaugurated a State campaign, Mrs. Stewart being the active leader in the efforts to stamp out illiteracy through 'moonlight schools and other

Upon their call for volunteers about one thousand teachers offered their services and are teaching or making arrangements to teach at night, and others are daily offering their services.

The chairman and leader in this great work has informed me that the Kentucky Educational Association, the Kentucky Press Association, the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Kentucky Society of Colonial Dames are taking much interest and are performing much valuable service, and that many other organizations in the State seem interested.

The aim of the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission is noble and exalted and of the greatest benefit, and there is no subject of more importance or of more Silage a Necessity For Breeding Stock far-reaching influence than the elimination of illiteracy from our State. We should educate all of our people, those under twenty one years of age, and those upward of twenty-one years of age. The perpetuity of our free institutions depends upon the intelligence and virtue of the people.

There are 208,084 men and women in our State who can not read and though all varieties of corn are suitwrite, and of whose intelligent efforts along the lines of education, religion able, writes a Nebreska farmer in the and general development and advancement the State is deprived, and tais constitutes a deplorable situation and presents a great and orgent need which should be promptly met and relieved.

Instruction should be offered to the mothers for their own sake and for silage corn contains the most murithe sake of their children and the hencit of the State; it should be offered to ment when kernels begin to glaze and the fathers for their own sake and for the sake sf increasing their earning before lower leaves become dry. capacity and promoting home comforts, and for the sake of a more intelligent green crops can be successfully enexercise of the right of sulfrage so as to help maintain good government for siled. However, taking all things into the State. Instruction should be offered to the young men and young women who have missed opportunities earlier in life, but may yet take hold of instruction and make achievements.

The instruction of all the illiterates in the State will not only give to Kentucky higher rank, educationally, among the States, but will give her a new and district position as the first Commonwealth which has ever attempted to accomplish such a great and important work.

I call upon all to help in the cause of education of those under twenty-one years of age and those upward of twenty-one years of age, and I appeal to every public and private teacher, every professor in our high scinols, colleges and universities, all public officers, every representative of the press, every farmer, mechanic and business man, and every woman wno loves the blessing of education, and all who desire to promote religion, science, literature oc art, or advance progress or improvement in any line, all who desire to lessen clime, to help in the great work of teaching adult illiterates, both maic and female, to read and to write and spell and encourage them to seek knowledge and all to their acquirements by moonlight schools and by illuminated school houses where is as free as the air we breathe, and where all may come to edify themselves and drink of the fountain of the water of life freely.

In testimony whereof, I have caused these letters to be made patent and the seal of the Commonwealth to be hereunto affixed. Done at Frankfort the 21st day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and in the one hundred and twenty-third year of the Common

To prevent waste after the silo has been filled straw can be placed on topto a depth of six inches or a foot. A better method, however, is to place cover with straw. Silage is pre-emi nently a feed for dairy cattle.

It takes eight to teremen five days to till a 12 by 27 foot silo, which takes the flies being attracted by odors fifteen acres of corn. There should be three or four boys in the sile tramping it. Silage is a necessity with breeding cattle, growing stock and young animals. They get it with robsh and benefit from it, as it keeps the lowers normal, the body tissues snappy, skin pliant and coat glossy. These all mark the stock in condition to make the most from their feed. Three tons of silage are equal to one ton of hay for Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dutban of Burgin feeding, and as silage costs on the are with relatives here and attending average $1.50 a ton it is much cheaper than hay. In fact, it is one of the most economical feeds.

Asthma and Air.

Most cases of asthma are the result of a bad atmosphere. The catarrh has extended down from the nose and throat into the bromblal tubes and set up a spasm, which is the source of this distressing malady. No asthmatic can afford to keep his windows closed. Whether by day or night, he needs a liberal supply of fresh alr.-From "Nervous Breakdowns."

The Microbe Menace.

Our wide general information, in this day of the Sunday newspaper, tells us that the real danger of the time is the quiet microbe. We could even wish that microbes clanked chains, and then we would know they were about any speed for the prophytactic. The innumerable devils of the middle ages Invisible but atways somewhere in the neighborhood, have been heatly te placed by the discoveries of bacteri clogy and if we hadn't got used to them, living would be an almost im possible anxions performance. Flight of the Housefly.

Dr. Hindle of London finds that tarred paper over the top and then nonsellies tend to travel either against or across the wind. This direction may be directly determined by the action of the wind, or indirectly, owing to borne by the wind. Fine weather and warmth favor dispersal, and dies travel farther in the open country than ne towns-probably because the houses offer food and shelter. INFANTILE PARALYSIS CURE

Reports Finding of Germ of Disease That Makes Cripples.

Hope of a cure for infantile paralysis a disease that has baffied the med leal profession for years, is held out by Dr. Slmon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute For Medical Re-

Dr. Flexuer explains that through animal experimentation the microorganism of the disease heretofore luvisible even with the aid of the most powerful microscopes and extremely difficult to grow outside the human body, has finally been grown in test tubes and is found visible when viewed through the microscope in masses. He makes no definite prom ise, but he leaves the distinct impression that recent experiment with this minute germ will soon produce results of a most important character,

Research work concerning the dis ease has been in progress at the Rockefeller institute for about six years. Results at first were similar to those in other laboratories, where the virulent agent eluded primary infcroscopic detection. But the ample means at the command of Dr. Flexner enabled him to jursue the work beyoud the stage at which it had block-

ROOSEVELT COMING

TO KENTUCKY

The Kentucky Republicads are reckoning without their host if they are going to rely on Theodore Roosevelt keeping quiet in this Campaign. Governor Willson who aspires to succeed the late Senator, W. O. Bradley, has pretended to be a great friend and admirer of President Roosevelt. but in the last National Campaign he cast his fortunes with Taft and went down to defeat with him.

Willson has no faith in the Progressive cause, subscribes to none of its principles, believes that it tends to Socialism, and has done everything in his power in the past to defeat its candidates. Now that he again ; seeks high office, he has only honied words for the Progressives and he is urging them to come back again to the waiting arms of the Republican party and forget all past differences. While the support of Governor Willson might have elected a Progressive Congressman from the Louisville District, he made speeches for Taft and the Republican nominee for Congress, and as a consequence the Democrats carried the district. Progressives have not forgotten Willson's attacks upon them and they will support their own candidate. Burton Vance, this Fall instead NEAR, DR. FLEXNER HINT'S of listening to Willson's wheedling

He is as much in earnest in this fight as he was in the Presidential contest. He has already spoken in Kansas. Indiana and Itlinois and will later make a thorough anvass of New York State.
